POPE BENEDICT IS DEAD

As Death Approaches Murmurs "Peace, Peace"

Just Before End He Lapses Into Delirium Early Today—Death Expected by Vatican Officials

TRAGIC SCENE IS ENACTED

High Prelates of Church Gather at Vatican and Await End of Pontiff—Gloom Among Vatican Attaches—Pope's Lungs Were Infected.

ROME, Jan. 21.—The Pope died today. His last Words were "Peace, peace," uttered in delirium.

Rome, Jan. 21.—Pope Benedict XV was still living at midday but had grown steadily worse during the morning and was in extreme agony

His breathing was very difficult and at times was barely perceptible.

Masses were said throughout the morning at every altar in Rome.

Lapses Into Delirium.

The dying Pontiff lapsed into delirium early today.

He failed to recognize anyone at the bedside.

Professor Marchiafava, the specialist who has been in consultation at the Vatican, has just declared that the end is near. The Pope is sustained only by his naturally strong constitution.

Telegrams were sent by the Vatican to all the papal nuncios at 7 o'clock this morning announcing that the Pointiff, Benedict XV, was dying.

Murmurs "Peace, Peace."

The Pope is in extreme weakness and restless.

Lying with closed eyes he murmurs, "peace, peace," evidently alluding sub-sonsciously to the great mission of the pontificate in war time.

Other undistinguishable messages fall from his lips from time to time, but his vitality has sunk so low that he speaks in the weakest of whispers.

Day dawned upon a tragic scene at the Vatican. The Papal court joined the cardinals in prayer. The pall of approaching death hung over all. Out side in the piazza of St. Peter's a crowd of reverent men and women, mostly kneeling with faces turned Heavenward, uttered their supplications for the recovery of the Holy Father.

At 7 o'clock it was stated at the Vatican that the Pope was unconscious and that death was expected at any minute.

But still the Pontiff lingered on. The four attending physicians did all in their power to relieve his sufferings, but they could hold out no hope for ultimate recovery. The strain was telling on all. In the ante-room off the sick chamber high prelates of the church, faces drawn with the agony of their sorrow, prayed without cessation.

In Great Agony at 8 O'clock

At 8 o'clock the Holy Father was still breathing, but was in great pain and breathing with agonized contractions of the throat. A brief bulletin was issued saying:

"His Holiness is weaker. The symptoms of pneumonia have extended."

By this time all hope had been abandoned and the most optimistic of the Vatican entourage had come to realize that the end was a matter of hours, if not minutes.

The Pope, it was understood, had been unconscious the greater part of the night. Between 4 and 5 o'clock he began to lapse into a state of delirium and to mutter phrases of prayer.

Recognizes Doctor.

Dr. Battistini, who had been in attendance upon the prelate since he was stricken, visited the patient at 2:30 o'clock. At that time the Pope was conscious.

After leaving the sick chamber Dr. Battistini said:

"I found the lungs completely infected. The temperature was 38.5 (centrigrade.)" This was a slight increase in temperature.

Professor Battistini is an aged man and has long been a personal friend of the Pontiff. The Pope recognized him and begged him to retire and seek rest. Dr. Battistini refused and remained at the bedside.

Injections of caffeine and camphorated oil were administered to maintain the heart action but their effect was brief. The Pontiff soon relaxed into semi consciousness, murmuring inarticulate words.

The relapse heightened the gloom that had been temporarily lifted by the return to consciousness. Vatican attaches wept as they said they "expected the catastrophe within a few hours."

Washington, Jan. 21.—Mgr. Bonzana, papal delegate in Washington, was informed in a cablegram received at 9:45 o'clock yesterday from Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary, that Pope Benedict was "very seriously ill." Such a message was regarded as indicating that the Pontiff was in a most serious condition.

Anxious inquiries are being received by Mgr. Bonzano from all over the United States. In many of the dioceses archibishops and bishops have ordered prayers for the recovery of the Pontiff.

As is customary when the death of the Pope is expected Cardinals in every part of the world must keep ready to go to Rome to participate in the conclave for the election of a successor. That is the highest function of a member of the Sacred College. America has two princes of the church—Cardinal William O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, and Cardinal Dougherty, Archbishop, of Phil adelphia.

Although the conclave generaly does not meet for 10 or 11 days after the death of a Pope it is not always easy for the Cardinals who live far away to reach Rome in time for the selection of a new head of the Catholic Church At the last conclave after the death of Pius X the American Cardinals arrived shortly after his successor had been chosen.

There is no limit for the duration of a conclave. In the Middle Ages, one conclave which met at Viterbo, about 50 miles from Rome, lasted over two years and a half; in fact, it ended only because the people of the town, impatient at the state of anarchy in which the Pontifical states were thrown for want of a ruler, climbed on the top of the palace where the Cardinals were gathered and unroofed the building. When Leo XIII died the most distant member of the Sacred College from Rome was the Archbishop of Sydney, Australia—Cardinal Moran—who arrived several weeks after the election of Pius X.

Change Of Rules Advocated.

Some prominent ecclesiastics advocate a change in the rules of the conclave, so that in the present days of rapid traveling all Cardinals may reach Rome in time to enter the conclave before the election of the Pope.

When Benedict XV was chosen as successor of Pius X it was stated that in view of the fact his election was due to such a small majority that the presence of the two American Cardinals in the conclave might have changed the decision of the Sacred College.

Only the Pope, however, has power to change the rules of the conclave so a succssor to Benedict XV probably would take place according to the old regulations.

SENATE TOLD PROBLEM NEAR ITS SOLUTION

Shantung Question Explained by Lodge and Underwood

CANNOT DO MUCH

Say America Has Taken Only Course In Offering Its Good Offices—Business Getting Ready

Washington, Jan. 21.—The troublesome question of Shantung is "approaching settlement," the Senate was informed yesterday by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Senator Underwood, members of the American "big-four" at the Arms Conference. This statement was drawn from them when Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, unexpectedly offered a resolution calling upon President Harding for information as to the status of the Shantung issue.

Both Senators Lodge and Underwood indicated that Senate discussions of the Shantung question was not advisable at this moment. The Treaty of Versailles, rejected by the body, was brought into the debate when it was explained that one impediment in the way of settlement of the Shantung issue at the present Washington Conference was the fact that seven powers represented at this Conference attached their signatures to the Versailles document, with its disposal of Shantung.

Consequently, it was said, adjustment of the Shantung matter is largely a matter for agreement between Japan and China, and these two nations are trying to get together. It was intimated that once the Shantung dispute is settled, there will come a quick adjournment of the Arms Conference.

Senator Walsh said he offered his resolution of inquiry because of reports that the Conference was about to quit. He wanted to know if adjournment was to come without action on Shantung.

Senator Underwood said the "good offices" of the American Government are now being used to have Shantung restored to China, although this Government cannot take a too direct interest in the adjustment.

When the Walsh resolution was read it evidently came as a surprise to the floor leader of the Senate Democrats, as well as Senator Lodge. The latter went over hurriedly and conversed with Senator Underwood. Each participated later in a statement regarding the Shantung complication at the Arms Conference. The debate revealed that the present Confrence is rather helpless in the present situation and must await some agreement between Japan and China.

It was also apparent that neither Senator Lodge nor Senator Underwood welcomed yesterday's discussion of the vexatious Shantung controversy and the Walsh resolution, which went over under the rule and had probably stirred up trouble. However, Senator Underwood explained that he had no particular objections to calling upon the President for the facts in the Shantung matter.

Water Company Wins

Decision of Circuit Court of City Upheld by Appeals Court

The state court of appeals has just affirmed the decision of the circuit court of this city, of over which Judge S G. Brent presided, which gave a verdict in favor of the Alexandria Water Company in the suit of Edmund Hunt Roberts against the Alexandria Water Company.

Some time ago the plaintiff sued out an injunction against the Water Company to prevent the company cutting off the water supply furnished him through the mains at Cameron Run. The Water Company claimed it was advised by the board of health not to furnish consumers any but filtered water and this was the reason for their attitude.

Under this decision Mr. Roberts will have to check up and obtain filtered water from the company.

Attorney G. L. Boothe represented the Water Company and Attorneys J. R. Caton and Son represented Mr. Roberts.

MINERS FILE APPEAL FOR A CONFERENCE

Ask Government to Compel Operators to Join Them In Parley

CITE FORMER COURSE

Declare Mine Workers Were Forced Back to Tasks By The Administration.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, apparently amazed at the statement of Secretary of Commerce Hoover Thursday night indicating that a coal strike is inevitable called upon the Government today to compel the operators to engage in conferences looking to a settlement of the wage issues.

The miners recall that two years ago the Government "reached out" (to use their language), grabbed the miners by the neck and compelled them to end their strike. They now ask if a new Administration is power less to force the operators to participate in proceedings that might prevent a strike.

Yesterday's statement was issued after John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, had conferred with Secretary of Commerce Hoover. The latter has assumed the responsibility in the name of the President and at President's direction to canvass the coal wage controversy and to suggest means of dealing with it.

Mr. Hoover so far has offered no constructive program. He has gone over the situation with labor leaders and coal operators individually arriving, it seems, at the conclusion that the strike cannot be averted. What he will propose later as a strike prevention plan remains to be seen.

Meanwhile the mine workers express surprise, first at the attitude of Mr. Hoovr and next at the apparent willingness of the Government to have the controversy drift toward a strike.

"Secretary of Commerce Hoover made a rather unusual statement" the miners observe, "when he said that the stage was all set for a strike of coal miners, and that the Government had not yet set up any machinery to prevent it."

Continuing, the statement says:

"It is difficult to undersand wheth er he meant that the Governmen was powerless to cope with such a situation or whther he had something else in mind when he made the statement. Only two years ago. when the soft coal miners of the country went on strike, the Government found no difficulty in meeting the situation. It reached out grabbed the miners by the neck and compelled them to end their strike. This incident is fresh in the mind of the public. The Government served notice on the miners that it would use its full power and all of its resources to stop the strike, and the strike was stopped. Miners are now asking the question "why is it that the Government is powerless to handle the coal operators in the present crisis when it so effectively dealt with the miners two years ago? Surely they say, it is not possible that the coal operators are more powerful than the Government itself."

Wilbert, C. T. Merchant, M. E. Church, L. M. Johnston, W. C. Gloth, H. R. Thomas, Robert N. Harper, G. B. Fadeley, E. W. Ball, Harry K. Green, A. D. Torreyson and Paul Himmelfard. The directors then re-elected the following officers: President W. W. Douglas; fiirst vice-president and cashier, C. T. Merchant; second vice-president, W. C. Wilbert; assistant cashier, Alan B. Prosise; secretary, Harry R. Thomas.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Jan. 21.—Appointment of Dr. Hubert Work as Postmaster General within the next few days is now confidently expected in administration circles. Members of the Republican National Committee are certain that the President will name him, although they say the President has not yet definitely said so.

Work is now First Assistant Postmaster General and in that place has had active charge of carrying out of the Hays policies. During the last campaign he had charge of agricultural propaganda for the Republican National Committee a long with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Work is considered one of the best organizers in the country and an exceedingly able man. That is why Republican politicians, almost to a man want him to head the Postoffice Department. They believe that he will turn out every Democratic postmaster whose four year term has expired no matter how good a record such office holder has made during his administration.

The French government, it was stated today, has signified its willing ness to give up the New York Azores cable, which formerly extended from the Azore to Emden, Germany, and was diverted to Brest by France during the World War.

This announcement was made in connection with a recent Italian intimation that the Italian government would give up its assent to the arrangement concluded by the United States and Japan, together with Holland for the distribution of the former German cables in the Pacific provided the American government would give to Italy guarantees that Italy would receive "just treatment" in respect of the disposition of the German cables i nthe Atlantic. The attitude taken by Italy alone stands in the way of an adjustment of the Pacific questions, and it is understood that Italy demands the turning over to her of the New York Azores line. so that, if and when she lays a cable from Italy to the Azores, she may have direct cable communication with the United States.

"The stage is all set for a strike of the bituminous coal miners at the end of March"

This statement was made by Secretary of Commerce today following an all day study of hirs of the new program of the biutminous mine owners to cut miners wages sharply by April 1.

Secretary Hoover was not ready to say what the government would do to avert a shutdown of the mines. He plainly viewed the prospect of a mine tie up as being fraught with some danger.

Another "bloc" has been organized in Congress. It is composed exclusively of exservice men and comprises about 50 members. Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York. and John Philip Hill, of Maryland. are the leading spirits in the new organization.

The leaders of the new bloc announced that they will caucus on Wednesday, January 25 at which time there will be presented a resolution providing "that the Ways and Means Committee shall immediately present to the House an adusted compensation bill which shall be made the continuing business of the House until it is enacted into a law."

Disappearance of some of the records which the government intended to place before the Federal grand jury may delay that bod's findings in the case of Charles W. Morse. New York shipbuilder, it was said at the Department of Justice today. District Attorney Garden repored several days ago that valuable exhibits had either been misplaced or in some other manner had become separated from the regular files of papers bearing upon the evidence which is being submitted to the grand jury. Officials did not know whther or not the District Attorney had been delayed because of the missing records but surmised that the action of the grand jury may be retarded because of this fact. Nothing was divulged to indicate the character of the records which disappeared. Officials merely said they had a vital bearing upon the case, and that when they were missed by the District attorney, the Attorney General's advice was sought in the matter immediately.

PIONEER TROOPS

Boys Have Started Saving For Next Summer's Camp

Alexandria Pioneers have started their Camp Rust savings funds Last evening the St. Paul's Troop No. 1 and the Eagles No. 5, the former meeting at the parish hall of St. Paul's church and the latter at the First Baptist church, began their funds which are to provide their summer's outing.

The boys are acquainted with Camp Rust, thirty of them having camped their last summer. This was probably responsible for the enthusiasm with which the boys brought their funds last night. The largest amount recorded by the youngsters was $1.50, while the smallest account began with the modest sum of two cents The date of the camp has not yet been decidd upon but the boys are clamoring for twelve or fifteen days this summer instead of ten days which was the length of the camp last summer.

The boys also decided to have an indoor athletic meet in the near future to parallel the outdoor meet held in the summer. It is probable that the meet will be held in the early part of February and the list of events will include sprints, potato races, running high and standing broad jumps, basket ball throw for distance, troop relays and tugs of war between the troops.

Older boys and leaders of the troops will train the boys for the athletic events and the rivalry between the troops will doubtless be as keen as it was in the summer meet. There are now 6 troops of Pioneers in the city and a seventh will be organized in the near future. There are also two or three troops of Boy Scouts in the city and together they constitute about a dozen troops of boys organized in the city since the organization of the Y. M C. A. in Alexandria about two years ago. The Association is justly proud of this splendid record.

THAT SOLDIER BONUS

As we remember it, when our boys were training in a hundred or a thousand camps for the stern duties of war over-seas, the whole heart of the country went out to them. When they came to the seaboard to embark they were feasted and feted and danced and bazared and gifted and told there was nothing too good for them. And as to their return, when they came back, if they ever did, they were promised on every hand that a grateful country would welcome them with open arms; that their future would be secure; that they would be amply recompensed for the cold and hunger and thirst they might endure; for the daily peril of life and limb; and for the still deadlier danger of a life-in-death caused by poison gas or shell-shock. This, we solemnly promised, with smiles through tears—and the whole United States stood back of it.

They returned to us, our heroes—all but those who died on the field of honor. And how have we kept our promise? Hundreds of suicides among those silent ones, too proud to beg for that which was theirs; thousands of them walking the streets of our great cities today, jobless and dependent on charity; other thousands crowding our hospitals, to be turned out hopeless cripples for life; and other thousands upon thousands in sorrow and heart-break, waiting for that which was promised them but has never come.

And now what do we find in the nation's capital, among our law-makers and our executors of the laws made for a people's benefit? Quibbling and quarreling over taxes and appropriations. Sniffing and snarling in perpetual argumentation over the pettiest items in the budget. But they all fight shy of a bonus for our soldiers. The high muck-a-mucks and the low muck-a-mucks are alike in this cowardly evasion of a manifest duty. Liberty loans and liberty bonds, sales taxes, income taxes, corporation taxes, burdens on the people, treasury tattle as to economy—all this you hear in Washington today when you talk bonus for the soldier.

It is time something was done to fulfil our promise to the boys who freely offered their lives and their all in the nation's time of need. We hope this measure will not go over to another Congress. If it does, we predict many changes in that ponderous body composed of honorables on Capitol Hill.

Europe today owes this country eleven billions of dollars. Some folly-ridden un-Americans say that she cannot pay and should not be asked to pay. Why? Because she is poverty-stricken and still suffering from the aftermath of war. Our soldier boys, or most of them, are in the same unfortunate condition. We are, we trust, duly sorry for Europe; but we say frankly, our sympathy goes out a thousandfold more to our own people. Let Europe stop spending her annual millions or billions on army and navy, and pay some of her just and honest debts to the United States. A little ten per cent would go a long ways towards the bonus we are asking. Or, let her pay the annual interest on this debt, and that will help us pay our debt to those among us who need it just as badly as those whose national existence they saved. Were it not for these very American soldiers, all Europe today would be ground under the heel of the Teutonic Colossus and her sufferings intensified and multiplied many fold.

But whether Europe pays us or not, we cannot delay longer in settling our accounts at home.

SWAN BROS. ANNIVERSARY

Our advertising columns yesterday announced the twenty-first anniversary of Swan Brothers. We are glad to note it editorially today. These gentlemen are among our worthiest citizens. By their exemplary lives, by their modesty of demeanor, by their unfailing public spirit in all things that pertain to the good of Alexandria, they have set a notable example in our midst. We congratulate them on their merited success, and we congratulate the city fortunate enough to number them among its inhabitants. May the Gazette have the happiness of felicitating them on their forty-second anniversary in the same pleasant vein as it does today!

Friends A. C. vs. Peck

Those who failed to visit the Armory last evening missed the opportunity of witnessing a fast basket ball game, which was played between the Friends sextette and the Peck Memorial, which ended in the score of 23 to 23. The extra period was not played on account of another game. The Friends with Misses Irby, Jones, Schaffe, Crump, Cockrell, Hoehenstein and Bennett in the line up played a great game. Miss Schaffe in guard holding her opposing forward to two field goals while Miss Hoehenstein in forward did some clever shooting. Misses Thomas, Jones, Lemback, Brown, M. Riley and E. Riley composed the Peck sextette which is a fast team.

In forward position Miss Thomas was a star, and Miss Brown in side center was exceptionally good. The game was fast the Pecks scoring two points in the first few minutes and the Friends tied it up. At the end of the first half the score stood Peck 17, Friends 12. The end of the third period showed the Friends had overcome the lead of five points and were leading by score 18 to 17.

The fighting spirit of both teams were exhibited in the fourth period, when Miss Thomas, scored one foul and one field goal which gave Peck the lead by 20 to 18. Miss Hoehinstein the scored a field goal and Miss Crump a foul giving the Friend a one point lead, before the whistle blew ending the game Peck scored another foul and one field goal and the Friends scored a 2 pointer the game ended 23 to 23.

NEW PARSONAGE AT DEL RAY

Baptists Plan Residence For Their Pastor—Concert Tonight

Benefit Performance—Frank E. McCravy, The "Singing Evangelist" and James B. McCravy, Violinist, to Take Part

Tonight, at eight o'clock, there will be given a concert and entertainment at Del Ray, for the benefit of the new parsonage at the Baptist Church. The well-known McCravy Brothers, singers, violinists and impersonators, will grace the occasion with their inimitable singing, playing and reciting. Frank E. McCravy is noted all through the south as the possessor of a remarkable baritone voice, whose sweetness and tender appeal goes to the hearts of his audience. His record of success as an evangelistic singer is unbroken. Champ Clark said of him that he had won every right to rank as a head liner in the National Chautauqua. James B. McCravy, the younger brother, possesses rare skill as a violinist and singer. He will be in charge of the song service at the Second Baptist Church in Alexandria all next week. Both the brothers are excellent impersonators, and to hear Frank McCravy deliver his sermon in the role of a Baptist preacher is a rare treat. The parsonage for the benefit of which the entertainment is to be given, is a worthy piece of community betterment, and it is hoped the attendance will be large, as we know it will be enthusiastic. Rev. Dr. Robert A. McKay, the pastor, is universally beloved by his congregation, and his work in and around Del Ray has contributed much to the uplift of the whole community. We understand the tickets are only fifty cents, and there should be standing room only if all the friends of Dr. McKay do their duty and attend.

"If Winter Comes," by A. M. S. Hutchinson—Little, Brown and Company, Boston.

Mark Sabre is so lovable a character that we find ourselves wishing his life story might have been done by W. J. Locke, in whose hands he would have taken rank with Paragot and Marcus Ordeyne. The book is delightfully done, in the English manner, but lacks sincerity in spots—more especially in the treatment of the cumulative horror of Sabre's ostracism—the garrulous Hapgood whom the author uses for his objective treatment of Sabre; the Perches, mother and son; the Jings sisters, christened by Sabre "High and Low." Fargus scarcely can be called a minor character, though he appears but once or twice. So distinct is his impression upon the mind of the reader that he lingers awhile in memory with the light from the Great Beyond shining on his upturned face, meeting the supreme summons with steadfast answer, "Aye, ready!"

"Dangerous Days," by Rose Macaulay—Boni and Liveright, New York. This is preeminently the problem of Neville Hilary, the woman of forty-three who has, in the words of Lying Bill Pincher, "given ostriches to Fortune." There are other problems—those of the shallow, neurotic Mrs. Hilary; of unconventional Nan Hilary; of her youthful—and rather tiresome—niece and rival, Gerda. But it is the story of Neville Hilary, beautiful and vital, determining to take up her long neglected study of medicine, that intrigues the imagination. Having discharged her duties as wife and mother, and with time hanging heavily upon her hands, she finds the old ambitions awakening. There is pathos in her fight against the lapse of years; a fine bravery in her battle with fate. Her defeat is her greatest victory, for in its ashes she lays the foundation of success lasting and sure.

It would be impossible to speak of this book without mentioning the most delightful grandmother in recent fiction. Grandmama Hilary is neither the lavender and old lace type of old lady or the modern Vamp of sixty. She combines the sharpest of tongues and warmest of hearts in fine proportion and has a keen interest in life and jealous devotion to her children which makes her adorably human.

AGED POLICEMAN SHOT

Fredericksburg, Va., Jan. 21.—William E. Brooks, 65 years old, a constable of Stafford county, Va., is in a critical condition at his home, Falmouth, Va., as a result of a battle last night with two men in a large touring automobile 5 miles from Fredericksburg. The aged officer was shot in the thigh by a bullet from a high-powered rifle, when he attempted to stop the machine. As the constable fell on the roadway directly in the path of the speeding machine, without swerving it passed over the prostrate constable. He was taken to his home at Falmouth by passing autoists, where physicians, who had been summoned, said that he probably was fatally injured.

Sergt. William Chichester of Fredericksburg, attempted to stop the machine, in the front seat of which were two men, as it crossed the bridge at terrific speed. Unable to do so, Chichester telephoned to Brooks at Falmouth.

Standing in the roadway of the Fredericksburg turnpike as the machine with its dazzling headlights sped toward him, Brooks, waving his arms motioned the operator of the machine to stop. Instead of obeying one of the passengers opened fire and a bullet from the rifle felled the officer.

Brooks, after being run over turned on his side and fired several shots at the swiftly disappearing machine.

Motorcycle officers from Alexandria and Washington were sent to cover all roads leading into the capital. Brooks assailants had not been captured.

FOR GREATER ALEXANDRIA

George Harrison, Fairfax County Supervisor, Gives His Views

Road Building is The Most Important Problem Says Mr. Harrison

The Gazette's reporter met George F. Harrison, Fairfax County Supervisor in the Dranesville District from Herndon and found him to be a most enthusiastic exponent of the Little River turnpike which covers the distance of fourteen miles intervening between this city and Fairfax Court House. He had just returned from Richmond where he had been attending the Good Roads Conference. He says that:—

"For Alexandria no greater improvement could be thought of than the building of this road. Not only does this road separate your city from the County of Fairfax but also from the best sections of the United States. I can well remember my childhood which was spent on this road when it was the main stage route out of this section to sections throughout the west. Many is the time I have seen the caravans of Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia wagons traverse it on their semi-annual pilgrimages to the outer world for the needed home supplies not available near their various homes.

"In those days the pike was what is known as a toll pike and was kept up in tip-top condition. Then along came the railroads and the tolls began to fall off and consequently the road became in bad repair and travel began to fall off. When I, as the last superintendent of it as a toll road, turned to over to the state it was still in good condition, but since that time it has gradually gone down until it was in the condition it now is.

"Now, the railroads, as important as they are, are beginning to surrender some of their power to the motor trucks and the road must be made so as to allow yourself the benefit of this new turn in affairs. It will prove to be one of the greatest things that you could for the betterment of yourself and your city.

"In undertaking this work you will not have to work alone for the people of Fairfax are back of you.

"The logical time to build this piece of road is at once. Material is down and labor is down and in abundance. If the Good Roads Association may retain its present organization there is hope, I think, of realizing it this year, but on the other hand, if the politicians succeed in effecting a re-organization, as they are endeavoring to do, you will in all probability have to wait another year for this improvement. Politics should, most emphatically, be kept out of the Good Roads Association It was never started for that purpose. Five others and I started the State Good Road Association and now with a membership of over 25,000 politics must be kept from playing a part in its make up.

"Alexandria may count me in on this fight for a better road to Fairfax, I am doing my best to put this proposition through and I am confident of victory. It must not be inferred, however, that this will be an easy job, but we are hard workers and with your untiring aid we will build this Little River turnpike and incidentally put 'over-the-top' a Greater Alexandria."

Philahea Class Holds Enjoyable Affair at First Baptist Church

Members of the W. F. Watson Memorial Philathea Class of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a fine banquet and musical program at their first annual birthday party held in Sunday School room of that church last night.

After the completion of the program the pastor, the Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, made a short talk commending the class for its past good works and expressing his hopes for the continuance of the ame. He also expresed thanks for the fine banquet served.

More than fifty members and friends of the class were present for the first annual celebration and hopes that are held out for more than a hundred for the next one seem with in reason.

K. of C. Lee Celebration

Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester Delivers Address On Life of Gen. R. E. Lee

Rev. Dr. E. V. Register, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, delivered a most interesting lecture at the Knights of Columbus Club Rooms last night before a capacity attendance, when he extolled the virtues of the immortal Robert E. Lee, the greatest hero of the South. Dr. Register knew his subject, and the manner in which he treated his topic clearly showed that his whole heart and soul was enrapped in appreciation of the high ideals of manhood that has made the name of Robert E. Lee a venerated one throughout the world. The Knights of Columbus are very appreciative of Dr. Register's kindness in visiting them, and the unusually large crowd that was on hand last evening gave tangible proof of the K. of C., appreciation of this courtesy on the part of Dr. Register. Following the lecture a smoker was held, and the evening voted a great success by all present.

The Democratic prints have taken the hints which were lately dropped in Congress; and begin to talk bravely about the nerve of the Executive arm —Domestic traitors, the awakened vengeance of the people,

"And half a dozen dangerous words,
How they might hurt their enemies if they durst."

But all won't do. There are men yet left in this broken-spirited country who will continue to exercise the freedom of speech and press, in defiance of the frowns and threats of these blustering braggarts, "who wear their daggers in their mouths."

Twenty Six Boys are Cited—Breaking Electric Light Cause

Twenty-six boys gave the police court room the appearance of a kindergarten this morning. The boys were cited to appear in court by Policeman Miller. The cases of the lads were the last to be called and after all had been heard they were acquitted by Justice Duvall. The breaking of an electric light in the southwestern section of the city was responsible for the boys being in court.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear wife, CACY C. ROSE, who departed this life three years ago today, January 21, 1915.

Three years have passed
Since we laid her to rest not far away,
But the time, the place the hour,
Seem to us only yesterday.
How well we remember the pain she bore,
With a spirit ever bright,
And today it seems we can hear her yet,
As we listen in the night.
But her sufferings are o'er her voice is stilled
From the loved ones here below,
Yet we glory in the thoughts
Of the joy she may know.
We miss her, yes we miss her,
In the days that come and go,
Her heart was pure, her life was young,
Yet not our will but God's be done.

Her husband, Virgil Rose, and Children.

THAT DULL ACHING.

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and achy backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Read this statement:

Mrs. L. C. Nalls, 911 Duke St., Alexandria, says: "I could hardly get around the house my back was so weak and sore and when I got down it was almost impossible to straighten again. I couldn't rest at night and mornings I felt so weak and tired it was all I could do to dress. My kidneys acted irregularly and caused me a great deal of misery. My head ached a great deal; it was a dull, steady pain. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Summers' Drug Store and the first box did me so much good I used another. My back stopped aching and my kidneys have not caused me any trouble since."

Mrs. Nalls gave the above statement on April 10, 1915 and on March 15, 1919, she added: "I was pretty bad off with kidney trouble and nothing helped me the way Doan's Kidney Pills did."

Yates, and presentation of "live notes" from various periodicals pertaining to mission work, and concluded by routine business after which a delicious and bountiful luncheon was served by the hostess. Mrs. Harman, assisted by some of the other ladies. The afternoon session was given to the payment of dues, taking up of the annual pledge cars and study of the second chapter of the book, "Survey To Service," the last feature being under direction of Mrs. John Gary, followed by Bible study of the book of "Ruth" lead by Mrs. R. L. Tate. The meeting was concluded with an outline of the work of the "local department" told by the superintendent Mrs. James Harmon. Mrs. Harman also asked every member of the society to begin at once to prepare for a bazaar to be held in November of this year, requesting that each one bring to every meeting, at least two pieces of fancy work. WHOLESALE PRICES FOR ALL COMMODITIES
DRAWN FROM DATA FURNISHED BY U.S. DEPT. OF LABOR

DWIGHT P. ROBINSON & COMPANY

NEW YORK DALLAS LOS ANGELES YOUNGSTOWN CHICAGO
The irregular black line is the average price for all commodities from 1860 to December 1, 1921. The dotted line shows the gradual price increase from 1896 to 1914 projected to 1925, indicating what the normal price level would have been if the war had not intervened.
RELATIVE PRICE PER CENT

COMMODITY prices on the average are apparently approaching a normal level after wartime inflation and the consequent deflation of 1921.

This is shown by the above chart for all commodities which was plotted by Dwight P. Robinson & Co., Inc., from official figures of the United States Department of Labor. The dotted line drawn from 1896 through 1914 charts the gradual rise in prices following the panic of 1893 and indicates gradually improved standards of living and wage conditions. This price movement, which was entirely normal, would doubtless have continued if the war had not intervened. Therefore in seeking to determine a normal price level it is more logical to base considerations on the prolongation of this 1896-1914 line, rather than on the average for 1913, which is shown on the chart to be 100. The dotted line reaches 115 in 1922; therefore the price index of 149 for December for all commodities is only 34 points above the fair level which might have been normal but for the war. Considering economic conditions throughout the world, this increase is not considered so unreasonable.

Substantial price decreases from the peak of 1920 took place in 1921 in almost inverse ratio to the percentage in which the ratio of the gold reserve has been increased by the recall of federal reserve notes. This gold ratio increased from 48.8 per cent. to 100.7 per cent. in 1921, probably indicating complete deflation in the currency. Prices of several classes of commodities which fell rapidly during 1921 have now apparently become somewhat stabilized. For instance, the price index for lumber and building materials on December 1 showed an increase of 5 points over the figures for November 1, thereby registering the first increase in 18 months. This rise in the index is undoubtedly the result of the steady demand for building materials indicated by the latest construction reports available for 1921, which show a total volume only slightly below 1913.

The similarity between the price curves for the two war periods is strikingly shown by the chart, the upward trends in each case being almost exactly alike. Price conditions during and following the Civil War were entirely the result of the business and financial situation in North America, while the recent inflation and subsequent deflation resulting from the Great War were general with few exceptions throughout the countries of the world.

The products included in the term "all commodities" are farm products, food, cloths and clothing, fuel and lighting, metals and metal products, lumber and building materials, chemicals and drugs, house furnishing goods and miscellaneous products as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor.

SOUTHERN STATES

According to statistical information given out by the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, the Southern Division not only led the entire nation in number of chapters that are organized for service in time of emergency, but leads the entire nation in the number of chapters that are actively carrying on a peace time program.

Officials of the organization declare that this is nothing short of remarkable due to the fact that population centres in the South are comparatively few and that in the past year, the South more than any section suffered from financial depression after the collapse in the price of cotton and recent ravages of the boll weevil.

However, the figures show that for the month of September, the last month reported, in the Southern Division, comprising the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia, there are 851 chapters and of these 817 are active.

Seminole Tribe Red Men

Seminole Tribe No. 35, Improved Order Red Men. On last Thursday night Seminole Tribe held a very interesting meeting in their wigwam in the Alexandra National Bank building. Much business of routine nature was transacted after which several applications of palefaces were received and acted upon. After regular council fire and under the Good of the Order several members spoke and their remarks was enjoyed by the membership present. The new chiefs of the tribe was in their stations and from all indications the tribe will have another prosperous year.

After the business session the degree of the council will be conferred on a class of candidates. The committee on Valentine Party and 1st Anniversary will make its report and every member is invited to come out.

Knights of Columbus

The Knights of Columbus are like Dr. Register, cosmopolitan. We felt just as much at home with our Methodist friend last evening as Dr. Regester himself felt his presence with us was evidence not only of religious toleration, but of just common ordinary good sense—for where common sense prevails, one instinctively appreciates the qualities of his fellowmen, and the doctor certainly impressed us as one the most delightful orators we ever heard. Dr. Regester's one, for its theme was calculated to arouse in our minds a higher appreciation of the virtues of the immortal Lee and to better instill in our hearts a greater yearning to imitate the high ideals that raised the manhood of Lee upon a pinacle of American fame. The entertainment committee is alert, and received the congratulations of the speaker for having chosen such a topic as that of Robert E Lee, the Man.

At the first conference of the local council held last Monday evening it was definitely decided to hold a conference on the third Monday of every month. The purpose of the conference is to outline various plans that tend towards the betterment and advancement of K. of C. activities in our midst, and it remains without saying that these heart to heart talks among the officers will be productive of much good.

The K. of C. Clubrooms are, to use the venacular, "in full bloom." It is indeed gratifying to the Home Committee who have worked so hard, to see the brothers manifesting such interest in the new home. In addition to the new pool table, we have a "regular" bulletin board, and cigars and candies are available at all times now.

KILLED MOTOR ON TRACK; LOCOMOTIVE KILLED DRIVER

Rowland Grantham, of Jones Co., Mississippi, was driving over the Southern Railway tracks in an automobile machine on the tracks he saw a fast passnger train bearing down on him. His motor "went dead." The train struck the car and he was killed.

While we have not the details of this accident, it is safe to assume that this motorist failed to take a precaution that thousands of motorists daily fail to take. It is more than likely that on seeing the train he put too much force on the accelerator gave the engine too much gas and it "went dead." If he had put his motor into second, or better into first, before attempting to cross the racks, he would be alive today.

Those drivers of motor cars who read this might ask themselves how often they "go into second" before crossing a railway track.—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

To Each of Our Subscribers
You Are One of Our Customers

WE would like you to be a partner in the telephone business.

If you become an owner of one or more shares of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company you become a partner in the Bell Telephone System.

An investment in the stock of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company does not depend solely upon the earnings of any one Company in any one State. A stockholder in that Company becomes a part owner in the Nation's telephone service.

The number of shareholders is now over 175,000; an increase of more than 35,000 since January 1, 1921. More than 75,000 of our employees are now making payments for stock purchased by them on an easy payment plan and over 23,000 of these hold shares already paid for.

It would be to the interest of all concerned if every telephone user and every employee also were a shareholder in the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

We believe that there is no stock issued by any corporation which, considering safety and the return on the money, is a more attractive investment than American Telephone and Telegraph Company shares.

The stock can be bought, at the prevailing market price, through any bank or banker in the country. Each share has a par value of $100, a property value of more than $185, can be purchased for about $115 and pays a dividend of $9.00 each year, payable quarterly.

If you can pay for the stock only gradually we are prepared to make arrangements by which you can, through a reliable bank or banker, pay in installments.

We shall be glad to send you, upon application, the full details as to the management, financial position, earnings, and history of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the details of the means to be taken by you to purchase the stock, either outright or in installments.
